

The right surveillance cameras in the right place.

Dairy farmers protect their livelihood and deliver a safer product when they manage risk, boost productivity and monitor animal welfare and equipment with video surveillance from CameraScan. We have 25+ years of experience serving CA, OR and WA farmers. Here are the areas we recommend for cameras (ours are waterproof and sealed) and how they help you run your operation with greater efficiency and peace of mind:

Milking parlor

- Employees follow protocols and rules
- Cows are treated humanely

Tank room

- Verify when driver arrives and leaves
- Monitor that tank procures are followed (and nothing added to the milk)
- Proper measurement
- Area is clean

Hospital (maternity ward)

- Monitor calving efficiently (know when to attend to mother)
- Calf care (feeding, etc.)
- Proper naval dipping

Cattle holding area

- Keep an eye on waiting animals

Feed areas (lanes and storage)

- Know when cows are fed
- Monitor equipment
- See that cows are eating
- Theft of feed

Medicine room

- Monitor controlled substances

Shop

- Rule compliance (reduce workers' comp issues)
- Monitor for theft and safety

CUSTOMER SUCCESS STORY | KEVIN DEGROOT, DEGROOT DAIRY

Lowered Risk, Enhanced Security at DeGroot Dairy.

Kevin DeGroot uses his CameraScan surveillance system to stay in compliance with safety regulations, monitor employees and farm assets and has eliminated labor and industry claims with recorded evidence. “My dairy runs 24/7. I might not be awake 24/7 but the cameras are. I can follow what’s going on by grabbing my cell phone and seeing everything through cameras.”

CameraScan video surveillance can help:

- ✓ Monitor livestock, equipment and key areas
- ✓ Lower risk and boost productivity
- ✓ Enhance employee and livestock safety
- ✓ Increase peace of mind with 24/7/365 remote viewing from devices
